“He danced in front of the Lord with all his might. He did it while he was bringing up the ark of the Lord. The whole community of Israel helped him bring it up. They shouted. They blew trumpets.”

2 Samuel 6: 14-15 (NIV)

The background of the image shows two silhouetted figures jumping joyfully against a sunset sky. The sky transitions from a deep purple at the top to a bright orange and yellow near the horizon. The figures are positioned in the upper half of the frame, with their arms and legs raised in the air. A semi-transparent grey rectangular box is overlaid on the lower half of the image, containing white text.

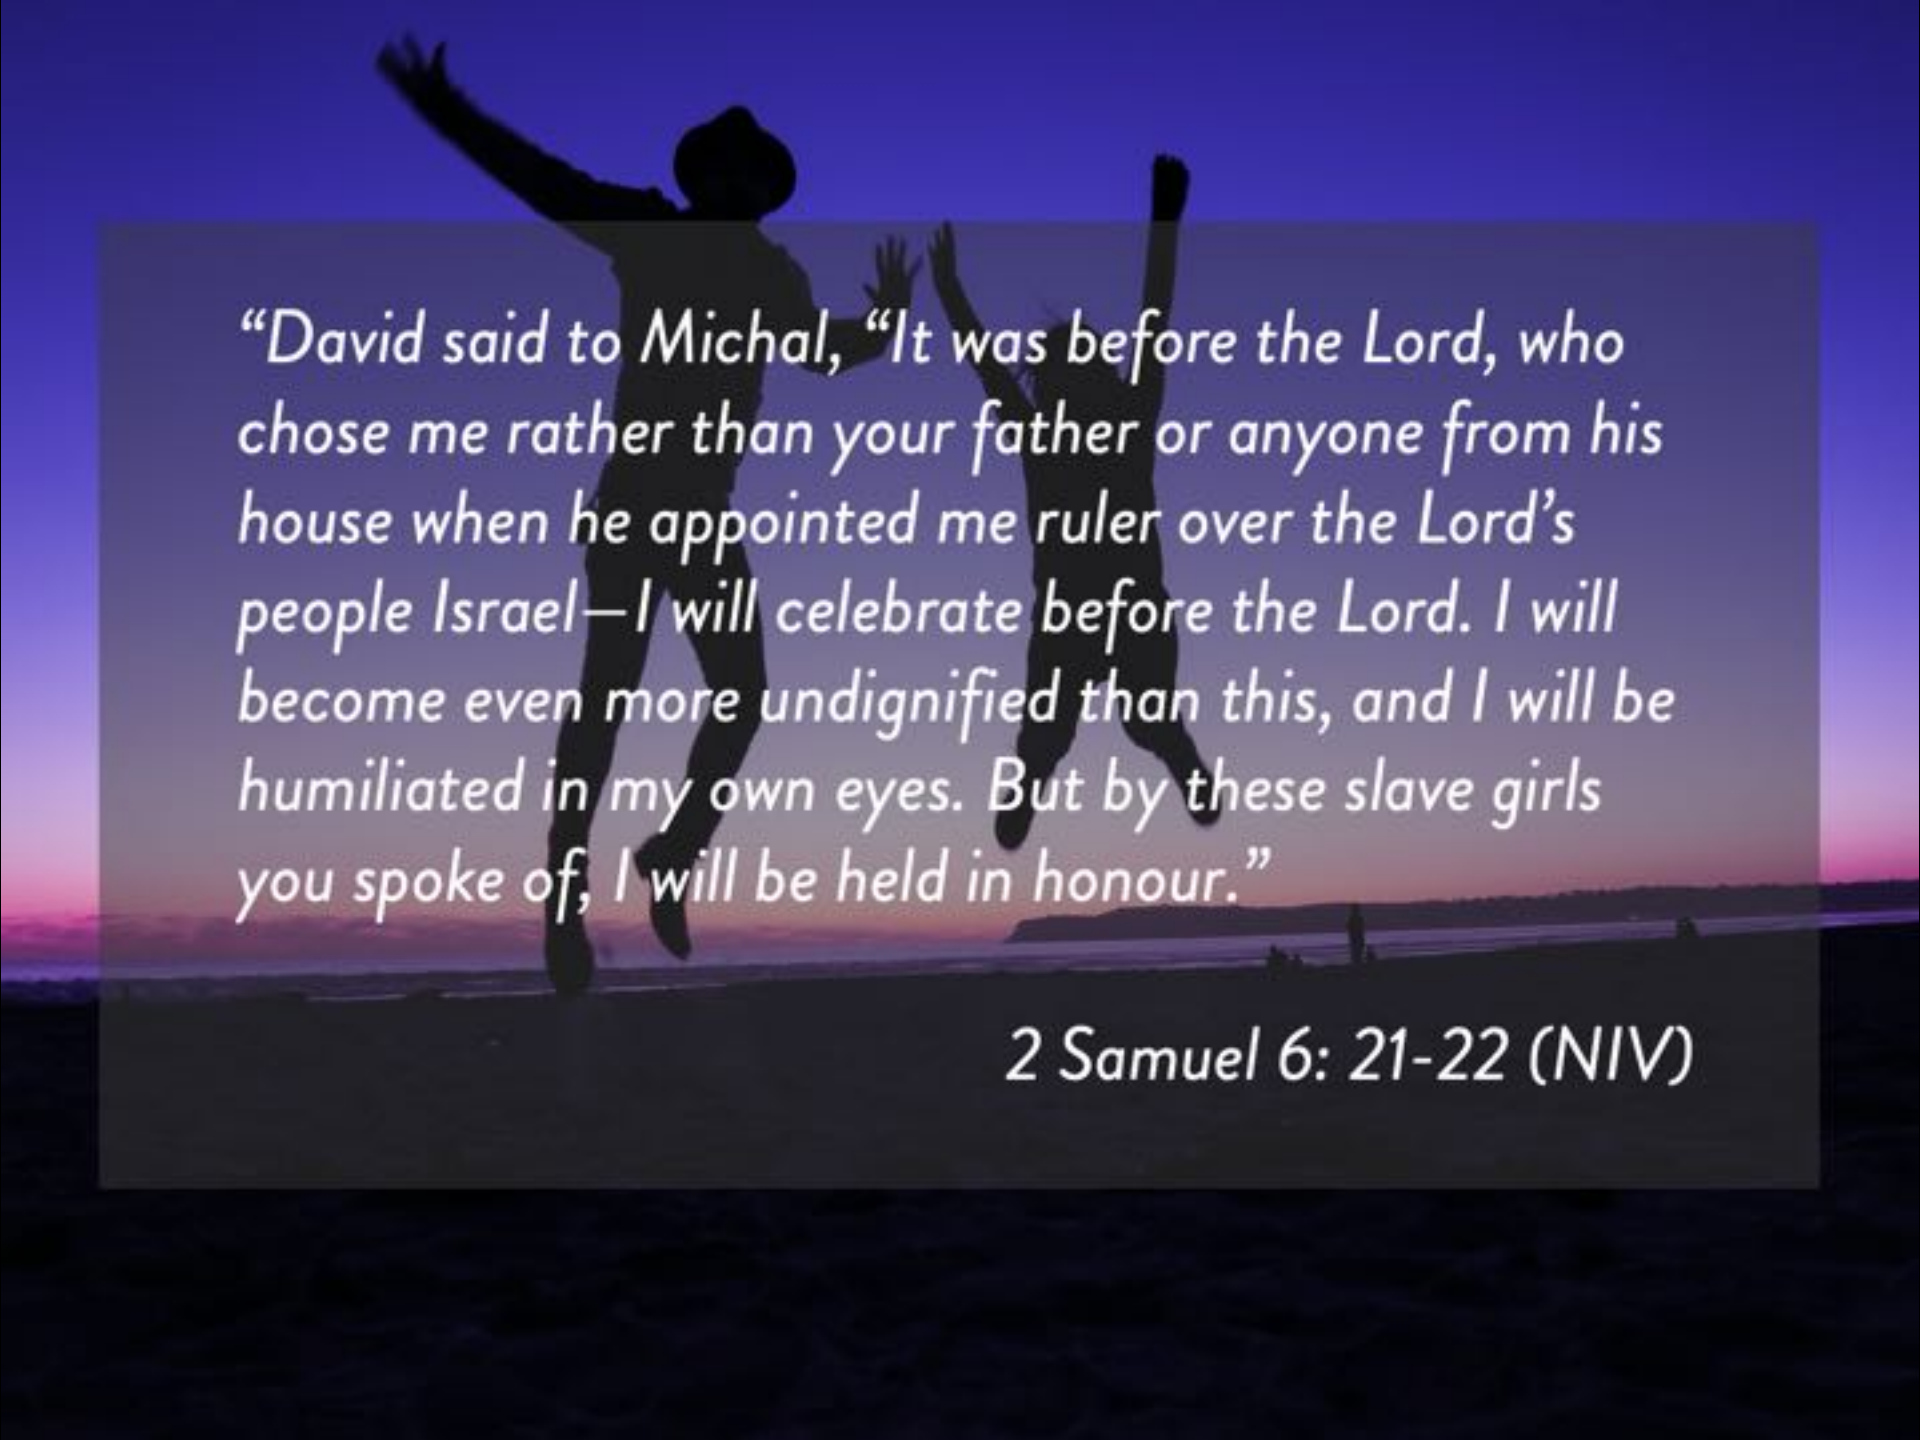

“David, ceremonially dressed in priest’s linen, danced with great abandon before God. The whole country was with him as he accompanied the Chest of God with shouts and trumpets blast.”

2 Samuel 6: 14-15 (The Message)

The background of the image shows the silhouettes of two people jumping joyfully against a sunset sky. The person on the left is wearing a hat and has their arms raised high. The person on the right is also jumping with their arms raised. The sky transitions from a deep purple at the top to a bright orange and yellow near the horizon. The overall mood is one of celebration and joy.

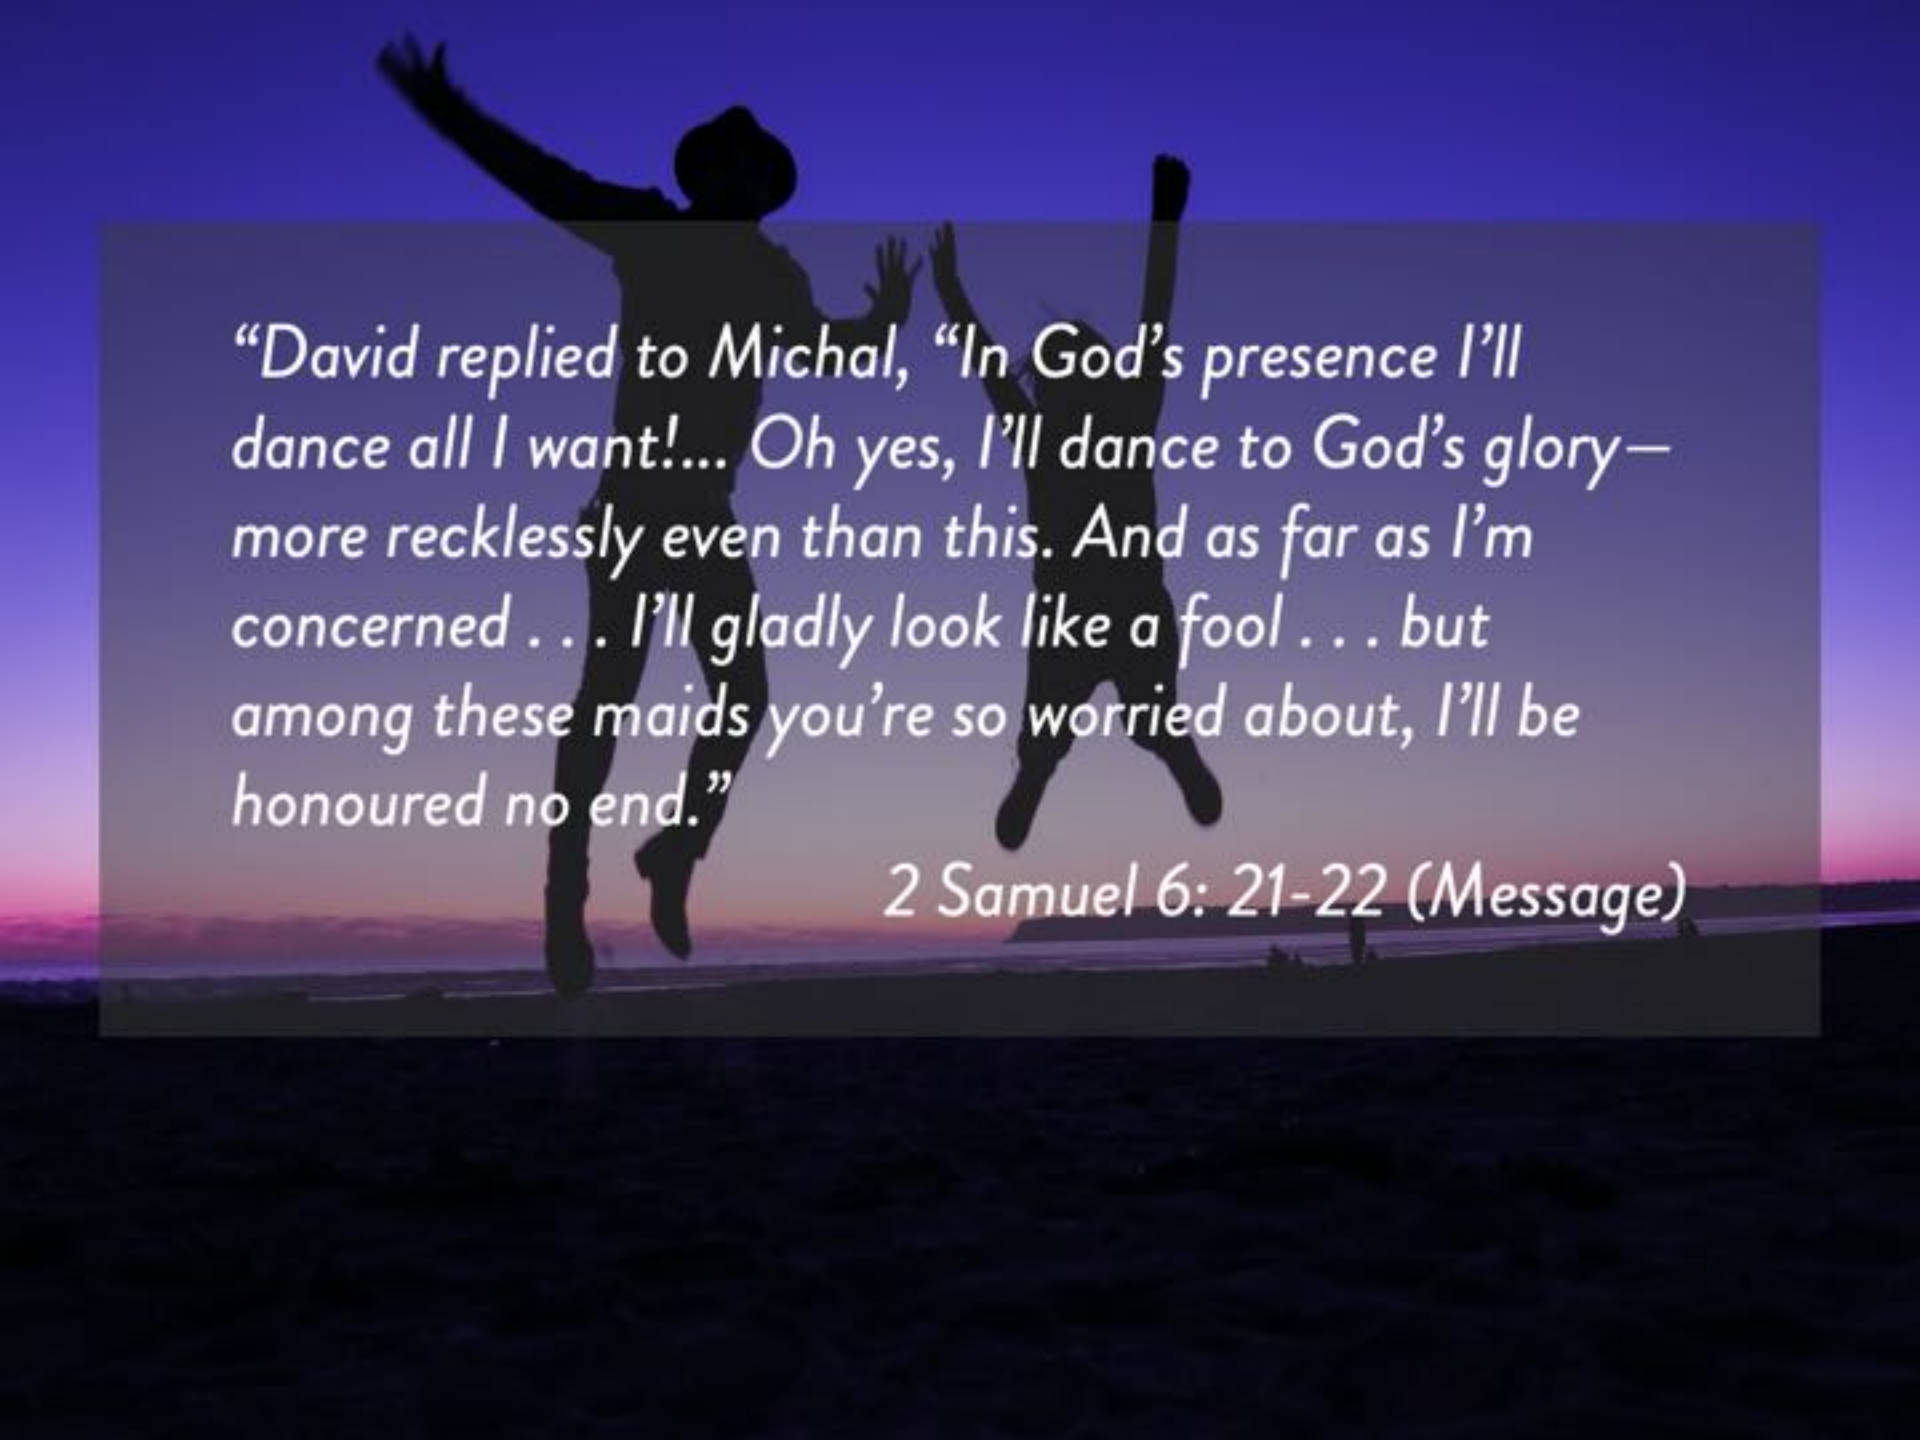

“The ark of the Lord was brought into the City of David. Saul’s daughter Michal was watching from a window. She saw King David leaping and dancing in front of the Lord. That made her hate him in her heart.”

2 Samuel 6: 16 (NIV)

The background of the image shows two people in silhouette, jumping joyfully with their arms raised. They are positioned in the upper half of the frame. The sky behind them is a gradient of colors, transitioning from a deep blue at the top to a soft purple and pink near the horizon, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The overall mood is one of celebration and triumph.

“David said to Michal, “It was before the Lord, who chose me rather than your father or anyone from his house when he appointed me ruler over the Lord’s people Israel—I will celebrate before the Lord. I will become even more undignified than this, and I will be humiliated in my own eyes. But by these slave girls you spoke of, I will be held in honour.””

2 Samuel 6: 21-22 (NIV)

The background of the image shows two silhouetted figures dancing joyfully against a sunset sky. The sky transitions from a deep blue at the top to a bright orange and red near the horizon. The figures are in mid-air, with their arms raised, suggesting a moment of celebration or worship. The overall mood is one of joy and freedom.

“David replied to Michal, “In God’s presence I’ll dance all I want!... Oh yes, I’ll dance to God’s glory—more recklessly even than this. And as far as I’m concerned . . . I’ll gladly look like a fool . . . but among these maids you’re so worried about, I’ll be honoured no end.”

2 Samuel 6: 21-22 (Message)

Do you love God with reckless abandon?

“A renewal is not possible when a congregation perceives itself alive but it is actually dead.”

Count Zinzendorf

“We had already been one body as a religious community, but now we were bonding our hearts in one spirit and warmth.”

Count Zinzendorf

“Oh yes, I’ll dance to God’s glory—more recklessly even than this. And as far as I’m concerned . . . I’ll gladly look like a fool
